

James L. Williams

James L. "JW" Williams is the chief executive officer of Lawrence Williams, LLC a Washington, DC-based consulting firm focused on management, technology, and advisement to the US federal government and commercial customers.

Prior to starting Lawrence Williams LLC, Mr. Williams spent over 10 years managing a broad array of projects with national and international reach including: developing and integrating medical and pharmaceutical supply chain software systems; and overseeing tele-health product implementation.

Mr. Williams is a certified Project Management Professional. He holds a Bachelor of Science of Environmental Science degree from Howard University's School of Engineering and has a Masters degree in Real Estate with a concentration in development and finance from Georgetown University.